Extension Activity- Spreading Awareness regarding Earthquake at Ghamroj with NSS

Date: Thursday, 6th April, 2023

Venue: Raghuvanshi Public School, Ghamroj, Haryana

Event Type: Nukkad-Natak Presentation

Mode of Activity: Offline

Target Group: Students

Coordinators: Ar. Akanksha Singh, Assistant Professor- School of Architecture and Design

Ar. Gulnaaz, Assistant Professor- School of Architecture and Design

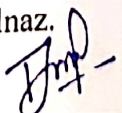

Organized by: School of Architecture and Design.

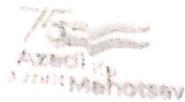

Number of Participants: 64 Students

School of Architecture and Design in collaboration with NSS organized an extension activity on spreading Awareness regarding Earthquake at Ghamroj Village on 6th April, 2023. The main objective of this event was to educate the school students about the causes, effects, and preventive measures to be taken in case of an earthquake.

The play demonstrated the effects of earthquakes, including collapsing buildings, loss of life, and damage to infrastructure. They emphasized the need to be prepared for earthquakes and highlighted the importance of taking preventive measures such as having an earthquake-resistant building, keeping emergency kits, and creating an evacuation plan.

The nukkad-natak was successful in creating awareness about earthquakes among the school students. The students were engaged throughout the performance, and they were able to understand the causes, effects, and preventive measures of earthquakes. It was an overall personality grooming event which helped the actors as well as the audience to build a better understanding about preventive measures to take during any natural calamity which would help them in future. The event was successfully organized with the constant support of Asst. Professor Ar. Akanksha Singh and Ar. Gulnaz.
