The "On-the-Job Training on Creating Open Educational Resources" was a collaborative event organized by the School of Education, KRMU and Gurushala Pratham Education Foundation. OER (Open Educational Resources) refer to teaching, learning, and research materials that are freely available for use, sharing, and repurposing. They can include textbooks, lesson plans, quizzes, videos, and more, all of which can be accessed and used without cost or permission. OER can be modified, customized, and redistributed to suit specific needs, which makes them a powerful tool for promoting open education and democratizing access to knowledge. OER can benefit students, educators, and researchers by providing affordable, accessible, and high-quality educational resources that can be shared and adapted to meet local needs.

The objectives of the training programme were to give participants the knowledge and abilities needed to create excellent OER resources. An overview of the training programme, including the subjects covered and the results anticipated, is provided below.

On April 3, 2023, the training programme started out with an explanation of Open Educational Resources (OER) and its objectives. The concept and importance of open educational resources were explained to the participants, and they also became more familiar with the Gurushala Pratham Education Foundation. The event featured with the experts Mr. Abhishek Pratap Singh and Ms. Lobani Biswas, Mr. Saket Bihari and Dr. Mudasir Hamid, who shared their insights and experiences on creating open educational resources throughout the sessions. Participants gained valuable skills in creating engaging and effective educational resources, and were empowered to take an active role in creating and sharing their own OERs. The event was made possible through the hard work and dedication of the organizers and participants, and serves as a model for future collaboration in creating effective and engaging educational resources.

On Day 1, attendees learned about Open Educational Resources (OER) and their importance. They learned about the training program's aims and objectives as well as the Gurushala Pratham Education Foundation, which provided resources and expertise for the occasion.

The emphasis on practical skills for producing OER materials was on days 2 and 3. Participants gained skills on how to write well-organized, text-based OER that effectively convey ideas and knowledge. Additionally, they learned how to use multimedia components like photographs, audio, and videos in their OER products to boost engagement and improve the educational process.

The development of interactive OER resources was the focus of day 4. Participants improved their ability to create interactive features that interest students and encourage active involvement by employing a variety of tools and technology. Interactivity was emphasised as being crucial to maximising the efficacy of OER materials throughout this session.

Day 5 of the discussion included copyright and licencing for OER. Participants received knowledge of copyright rules and how they affect OER. They looked at various Creative Commons licence types and learnt how to pick the right ones for their OER contributions, promoting compliance and openness.

Participants studied OER design and development ideas on Day 6. They looked at several OER creation formats, including as multimedia, interactive material, and text-based resources. Participants also gained knowledge of a variety of tools and technologies that aid in the production of OER.

The topic of Day 7 was the process of collecting OER from several sources. Participants gained knowledge on how to use platforms and repositories to find and exchange OER. They also learned how to assess the value and quality of OER, ensuring that the resources they use are of the highest calibre.

On Day 8, OER assessment and evaluation were discussed. Participants gained knowledge about various methods for assessing and evaluating OER while also learning how to match assessment techniques with learning objectives. They also looked at techniques for getting feedback and enhancing OER quality based on assessments.

On Day 9, localization and adaption of OER were covered. Participants were aware of the significance of localising OER for various linguistic and cultural contexts. Best practises for modifying OER to satisfy various learner needs were investigated, with an emphasis on accessibility and inclusivity.

Day 10's main topic was collaborative OER creation. Participants investigated tools and platforms that support collaborative OER development and learnt about the advantages of working with others to create OER. Participants had the chance to jointly build OER through group activities.

On Day 11, it was discussed how OER's quality control and review procedures work. Participants gained knowledge about quality control procedures and how to use participant input to raise the standard of OER materials. The emphasis of the seminar was on OER's ongoing improvement through a thorough review procedure.

Days 12 through 14 focused on a variety of significant facets of OER, including effect assessment, sustainability and maintenance, legal and ethical considerations, and advocacy and dissemination tactics. Participants learnt about long-term planning and maintenance strategies, made plans for promoting OER within educational communities, and became aware of the moral and legal issues involved in using and producing OER. Additionally, they were aware of the significance of evaluating the effects of OER efforts and learned the procedures and resources needed to do so.

Participants in the programme concentrated on OER impact evaluation on Day 15, examining the efficacy and impact of OER projects. The goal of the session was to arm participants with the information and resources they would need to assess the results and advantages of using OER.

On Day 16, participants worked hands-on to prepare their OER projects for the final showcase and sharing session. They did this by using the information and skills they had learned during the training programme. On Day 17, the showcase and sharing session brought the programme to a close. The chance for participants to present their OER initiatives was provided.

Dr. Tania Gupta, the event's convenor, gave a sincere vote of gratitude to the renowned resource person who helped make the programme successful on the final day of the session. She expressed his appreciation for their insightful observations, professional knowledge, and commitment in leading the training sessions on developing Open Educational Resources (OER). She also appreciated the resource person's efforts in educating the attendees thoroughly and offering helpful assistance during the programme. She also emphasised the resource person's contribution to training sessions that promoted collaboration, interactive learning, and lively conversations. Their knowledge and direction made a substantial contribution to the development of a stimulating and supportive learning environment. She expressed his sincere gratitude to the resource person for their dedication to advancing open education and their significant contribution in the field of education. The depth and potency of the training sessions demonstrated their commitment to and passion for producing OER resources.

Mr. Saket Bihari and Dr. Mudasir Hamid coordinated the programme successfully. Nirdeshika Panchal, and Tannu, B.Ed. Student-Teachers, SOED, were student coordinators.

Overall, the "Creating Open Educational Resources" On-the-Job Training proved to be a worthwhile learning experience, providing participants with the skills they needed to support the OER movement and advance open education practises.

Outcomes of the Event

The School of Education at K R Mangalam, in conjunction with the Gurushala Pratham Education Foundation, organised a 17-day On-the-Job Training on "Creating Open Educational Resources" that turned out to be a fruitful learning opportunity for the participants. OER design and development, curation of OER, assessment and evaluation strategies, localization and adaptation of OER, collaborative OER development, quality assurance, advocacy, dissemination strategies, sustainability, and legal and ethical considerations were just a few of the many topics covered in the training programme. In order to create high-quality OER materials, connect assessment methods with learning objectives, measure the success of OER efforts, and advance the OER movement within educational communities, participants gained knowledge, skills, and

ABOUT THE EVENT

RMU is proud to announce its upcoming program on "Creating Open Educational Resources" in collaboration with Gurushala Pratham Education Foundation. This program focuses on On-the-Job Training, which provides practical, hands-on experience to participants who are interested in developing and creating Open Educational Resources.

Gurushala is an initiative of Indus Towers Ltd. and Vodafone Idea Foundation. The unpaid activities are implemented by Pratham Education Foundation and paid activities are implemented by Appinventiv Technologies Pvt. Ltd. The idea driving Gurushala dates back to 2012 when a digital education programme was piloted in 151 under-resourced and low-cost schools across India. The programme aimed to positively impact the learning levels of students by equipping schools with digital technology and training upper-primary math and science teachers to integrate technology and innovative group learning pedagogies inside the classroom.

Pratham is an innovative learning organization created to improve the quality of education in India. As one of the largest non-governmental organizations in the country, Pratham focuses on high-quality, low-cost, and replicable interventions to address gaps in the education system. Established in 1995 to provide education to children in the slums of Mumbai, Pratham has grown both in scope and geographical coverage. The organization aims to improve the quality of education in India and ensure that all children not only attend but also thrive in school. This goal is accomplished by working in collaboration with the government, local communities, parents, teachers, volunteers, and civil society members.

The program is designed to equip participants with the necessary skills and knowledge to create high-quality, open educational resources that can be accessed and used by anyone. The training will cover a range of topics, including copyright and licensing, pedagogical considerations, design and development of educational materials, and

Through this program, participants will have the opportunity to engage in collaborative learning and develop a professional network with fellow educators and experts in the field. The program is ideal for student teachers to facilitate them as educators, instructional designers, curriculum developers, and anyone interested in creating open educational resources.

We look forward to welcoming all interested participants to join us in this exciting and valuable learning opportunity.

OBJECTIVES OF THE EVENT

Student Teachers of SOED will undertake this extension activity. The objectives of the extension activity are:

1. To familiarize the student-teachers with NIPUN Bharat Mission, GoI initiative.
2. To spearhead activities for enhancing Proficiency in Reading with Understanding and Numeracy of Government Primary School Children up to Grade 3 level.
3. To report sustainable improvement in Reading and Numeracy Skills of Primary School Children through a Case Study Report.

EXPECTED OUTCOMES

On completion of the training programme, the student teachers will be able to use various digital tools for creating Open Educational Resources.

APP

	➤ OER can enhance student learning outcomes by providing educators with the flexibility to customize and adapt resources to meet the specific needs and learning styles of their students. ➤ By utilizing OER, students and educators can save money on textbooks and other materials, which can be particularly beneficial in areas where the cost of textbooks is a significant burden. ➤ OER can foster collaboration and innovation by allowing educators and learners to share their knowledge and expertise freely, encouraging the creation of new resources and new ways of learning. ➤ OER can help democratize access to knowledge and empower learners and educators to take an active role in creating, sharing, and improving educational resources, contributing to a more open and equitable educational ecosystem.

Report on
Soft Skill Enhancement Workshop
On
Leadership Skills for Teachers

Date: Wednesday, 11th January 2023.

Venue: Gurushala platform

Event Type: Workshop

Mode of Activity: Online

Target Group: Student- Teachers and Faculty members of SOED

Resource Person: Ms. Aakriti Adya & Mr. Laboni Biswas.

Coordinators: Dr. Pooja Verma & Ms. Shabia Subuhi, Assistant Professor, K.R. Mangalam University (KRMU), Gurugram.

Organized by: School of Education, KRMU in collaboration with Gurushala, Pratham Education Foundation.

Number of Participants: 125

Soft skills are the personal attributes through which an individual achieves his goals. They are the attributes that are needed for success on the job. Out of all the skills, leadership is the one that has the most impact on an organization's success. Throughout their often-diverse careers, most teachers maintain many leadership roles. Some are among the students, while others influence fellow educators and the community. In recent years, though, teacher leadership has become a more distinct role that educators must fill. Thus, with the objective of developing the leadership skills of teachers, the School of Education, K.R. Mangalam University organised an online soft skill enhancement workshop on "Leadership Skills for Teachers" for educators and students in collaboration with Gurushala at Pratham Education Foundation. Ms. Laboni Biswas and Ms. Aakriti Adya from Gurushala were the invited speakers for the workshop.

Dr. Pooja Verma, Assistant Professor, School of Education, welcomed the participants and guest speakers of the day and introduced the speakers to the participants. The session was conducted on the digital platform of Gurushala. Prof. Tania Gupta, Dean, School of Education, welcomed the speakers and gave a brief introduction about the essence of scheduling this workshop and Gurushala. There were more than 200 participants who attended the workshop. The participants who joined this session were student-teachers from various colleges, research scholars, school teachers, assistant and associate professors, and principals of different colleges. They were not only from the education department but also from other areas. The participants belonged to different states.

The speakers started the session by discussing the need for leadership skills among the teachers and what skills they must possess so that they can meet the changing demands of the learners. They further discussed different skills to develop leadership competencies, strategies to develop leadership competencies, ways to act on leadership competencies, and how to link leadership competencies. They also demonstrated the various modalities for using the Gurushala website and how any participant can create their own modules or use the already existing ones. They demonstrated that a separate community by the name 'Teachers of K. R. Mangalam Community' has been created on the Gurushala website, and the student-teachers and other faculty from K. R. Mangalam University can create their modules and add them to their website.

They also handled queries from the participants. The session was closed with a vote of thanks by Dr. Pooja Verma. This was a fantastic learning experience for the participants.

K.R. Mangalam University has collaborated with Gurushala, Pratham Education Foundation (MOU partner) to equip Faculty and Students of School of Education, K.R. Mangalam University.

PRATHAM EDUCATION FOUNDATION

Gurushala is an initiative of Indus Towers Ltd. and Vodafone Idea Foundation and is implemented by Pratham Education Foundation. The idea driving Gurushala dates back to 2012 when a digital education programme was piloted in 151 under-resourced and low-cost schools across India. The programme aimed to positively impact the learning levels of students by equipping schools with digital technology and training upper-primary math and science teachers to integrate technology and innovative group learning pedagogies inside the classroom.

Over the years, the programme worked with schools across diverse geographies, cultures, languages and other socio-economic characteristics. In this process, it generated a rich pool of knowledge and insights about the problems that Indian teachers face inside their classrooms and innovative and scalable solutions to solve those problems. The need to provide teachers with an integrated platform for self-paced capacity development, access to varied resources and connect with peer teachers was realized. The growing penetration of internet and smart-phones in both rural and urban areas offered an opportunity to transform this need into the idea of an online teacher portal. In 2019, this idea translated into reality with the launch of Gurushala.

Pratham is an innovative learning organization created to improve the quality of education in India. As one of the largest non-governmental organizations in the country, Pratham focuses on high-quality, low-cost, and replicable interventions to address gaps in the education system. Established in 1995 to provide education to children in the slums of Mumbai, Pratham has grown both in scope and geographical coverage. The organization aims to improve the quality of education in India and ensure that all children not only attend but also thrive in school. This goal is accomplished by working in collaboration with the government, local communities, parents, teachers, volunteers, and civil society members.

Soft skills are the personal attributes through which an individual makes his goal achieved. They are the attributes which are needed for a success on the job. Out of all the skills, Leadership is the skill which plays an important role for the success of an organisation. An organisation works best when the subordinates are well guided by a leader. A leader leads the team and aims to get the best out of each member of the team. A good leader leads by example. Any person with a vision in his/her mind can become a leader and it needs a set of characteristics which need to be possessed by an individual. It is also said that leaders are not made but born. They have certain specific qualities and charm in their personality which naturally make them a leader.

RATIONALE

Throughout their often-diverse careers, most teachers maintain many leadership roles. Some are among students, while others influence fellow educators and the community. In recent years, though, teacher leadership has become a more distinct role that educators must fill.

Teacher leaders step outside the classroom to bring their expertise to a larger platform, influencing educational culture, practice and growth in their communities. They may help other teachers improve their ability to instruct students, or they may lead teams to better meet the needs of the students, school and community. Some focus much of their time on helping parents better work with their children, while others push for reform through political means. In short, the list of responsibilities teachers bear as leaders appears to be endless. As a result, the goal of this workshop is to better prepare teachers to take on those roles and lead today's learners and their learning styles.

OBJECTIVES OF THE WORKSHOP

To enable the participants to:

- Develop self-confidence both in professional and personal life.
- Hone essential skills and techniques needed in order to look at challenges from a different perspective.
- Work in a collaborative culture at the workplace.
- Train teachers to communicate effectively with their team.
- Improve their career prospects through acquiring leadership skills.
- Imbibe the qualities of a good leader and use the leadership skills into practice in classroom and educational settings.

METHODOLOGY

A workshop will be conducted on Leadership skills for teachers to enhance their soft skills by getting hands-on experience from the resource persons.

EXECUTION
The workshop will be conducted through ONLINE mode. It will adopt a practical and interactive approach including discussions and self-learning exercises.

Digital Skills for Educators & E-Content Development in Collaboration with Gurushala at Pratham Education Foundation. Ms. Neetu Bartwal and Ms. Aakriti Adya from Gurushala were the invited speakers for the workshop.

Ms. Manju Kundu, Assistant Professor, School of Education welcomed the participants and guest speakers of the day and introduced the speakers to the participants. The session was conducted on the digital platform of Gurushala. Prof. Tania Gupta, Dean, School of Education gave a brief introduction about the essence of scheduling this workshop and the Gurushala. There were more than 125 participants who attended the workshop. The participants who joined this session were the student-teachers from various colleges, research scholars, school teachers, assistant and associate professors, and principals of different colleges. Various Deans and Directors from not only the Education department but from other departments also participated. The participants who joined the session belonged to different states like Delhi, Tamil Nadu, Haryana, Maharashtra, Uttar Pradesh, Maharashtra, Jammu & Kashmir, Andhra Pradesh, Karnataka, Rajasthan, Gujarat, Himachal Pradesh, Assam, Madhya Pradesh, Kerala, Chattisgarh etc.

The session began with an activity for the participants; 'Solve the Riddle' by both the speakers wherein they asked some riddles from the participants. They then continued and focused on the changes which COVID has brought in the classrooms and what skills a teacher must possess to deal with the changing demands of the students in a classroom. With the shift from physical classrooms to digital classrooms, the education system has been demanding digital expertise on the behalf of teachers and students. They, thus, discussed the importance of technical skills, teamwork and leadership, communication skills and enhanced pedagogical skills, critical thinking and creativity for present-day teachers. They conducted an activity where the speakers asked the participants, how they actually go about collecting the reading material for their students (Picture 1). Elaborating upon the answers given by the participants, they said that there are five pillars which may bring digital competencies in teaching. These are computerization and information literacy, communication and elaboration, creation of digital content, security and problem-solving.

In order to familiarize the participants with the various digital tools available (Picture 2) and how they can develop the content by integrating technology and pedagogy, they discussed the formula DC^2 where depending upon the situation, the teachers can go with high-tech methods or low-tech methods. By using this rule, they can integrate technology with pedagogy depending upon the technological support available to the students. They also demonstrated the various modalities to use the Gurushala website and how any participant can create their own modules or may use the already existing ones (Picture 3). Towards the end of the session, the participants were made aware that a separate community by the name 'teachers of K. R. Mangalam Community' has been created on the Gurushala website (Picture 4) and how the teachers and student-teachers of K. R. Mangalam university can contribute in it by putting up the digital content created by them. The session was concluded by presenting a summary of what has been covered by the speakers in the session and a formal vote of thanks was given by Dr. Anshul Saluja, Assistant Professor, School of Education, K. R. Mangalam University (Picture 5). The participants learnt how they can develop e-content for their students by keeping the needs and demands of children in consideration. A majority of participants said that they wish to attend such workshops in the near future. They suggested that sessions may be conducted on developing health and hygienes, how to use various google softwares, developing critical thinking and creativity etc. which may be helpful for the teachers in their teaching-learning process.

Technological advancements, as well as a plethora of powerful and innovative digital devices and tools, have the potential to significantly improve educational outcomes. Educators and student-teachers must recognise that using digital content and devices will improve teaching and learning, increase educational opportunities, and benefit the millennial generation. Thus, with the objective of developing digital competencies for an effective teaching and learning process by making the teachers understand the trends in technology, the School of Education, K.R. Mangalam University organized an online Trends in Technology Awareness Workshop on "E-content Creation" for educators and students in collaboration with Gurushala at Pratham Education Foundation. Mr. Abhishek Pratap Singh and Ms. Aakriti Adya from Gurushala were the invited speakers for the workshop.

Ms. Kanchan Khatreja, Assistant Professor, School of Education, welcomed the participants and guest speakers of the day and introduced the speakers to the participants. The session was conducted on the digital platform of Gurushala. Prof. Tania Gupta, Dean, School of Education, welcomed the speakers and gave a brief introduction about the essence of scheduling this workshop and Gurushala. There were more than 220 participants who attended the workshop. The participants who joined this session were the student-teachers from various colleges, research scholars, school teachers, assistant and associate professors, scientific assistants, laboratory technician, school inspector and principals of different colleges. They were not only from the education department but also from other areas. The participants belonged to different states like Chattisgarh, Rajasthan, Haryana, Srinagar, Maharashtra, Karnataka, Chennai, Tripura, Delhi, Tamil Nadu, Uttar Pradesh, Jammu & Kashmir, Bihar, Gujarat, Himachal Pradesh, Madhya Pradesh, West Bengal, Kerala, Manipur, Pondicherry, etc. One international participant was also there, from Libya.

The speakers started the session by discussing the need for digital competencies among the teachers and what skills they must possess so that they can meet the changing demands of the learners. They further discussed how technology can be integrated with pedagogy while keeping the needs of learners in mind. They also demonstrated the various modalities for using the Gurushala website and how any participant can create their own modules or use the already existing ones. They demonstrated that a separate community by the name 'Teachers of K. R. Mangalam Community' has been created on the Gurushala website, and the student-teachers and other faculty from K. R. Mangalam University can create their modules and add them to their website. They demonstrated how to work on kdevlive software and on websites like Pixabay, etc. They organised some activities during the workshop to check the students' understanding. They also handled queries from the participants. The session was closed with a vote of thanks by Dr. Pooja Verma. This was a fantastic learning experience for the participants, who learned how to create e-content for learners while keeping their needs and demands in mind using software like Kdenlive.
