Report on

Blood Donation Camp

Date: 9th April, 2025

Venue: Medical Room, C Block, KR Mangalam University

Event Type: Blood Donation Camp

Mode of Activity: Offline

Target Group: Students & Faculty of KR Mangalam University

Attendees: Students & Faculty Members of KR Mangalam University

Organized by: Youth Red Cross committee in collaboration with District Red Cross Society

Number of Participants: 50 students donated blood

Introduction:

A blood donation camp was organized at KR Mangalam University's medical room on 9th April ,2025. The event was held in collaboration with the District Red Cross Society to encourage voluntary blood donation among students and raise awareness about the importance of blood donation in saving lives. The camp was met with enthusiastic participation from the university community, with 50 students donating blood.

Objectives:

Objectives are as follows:

1. To promote the spirit of voluntary blood donation among students.
2. To raise awareness of the importance of donating blood and how it can save lives.
3. To support the local blood banks with safe, healthy blood supplies.
4. To involve students in humanitarian activities and social responsibility initiatives.

Content:

The event began in the morning with all necessary arrangements in place, ensuring hygiene, safety, and comfort for both donors and organizers. The Red Cross Society team was present with medical staff and equipment to collect the blood units efficiently. Faculty members and student volunteers from the Youth Red Cross Committee assisted in smooth coordination and registration processes. The donors were provided with refreshments and post-donation care. The atmosphere remained positive and encouraging throughout the camp, emphasizing the collective spirit of giving and community welfare. Many students who donated expressed pride in contributing to a life-saving cause, and some pledged to become regular blood donors.

Outcome:

- A total of 50 students voluntarily donated blood.
- Increased awareness among students regarding the importance of blood donation.
- Strengthened collaboration between the university and District Red Cross Society.
- Fostered a culture of social responsibility and humanitarian values among students.
- Provided a positive and organized platform for first-time blood donors.

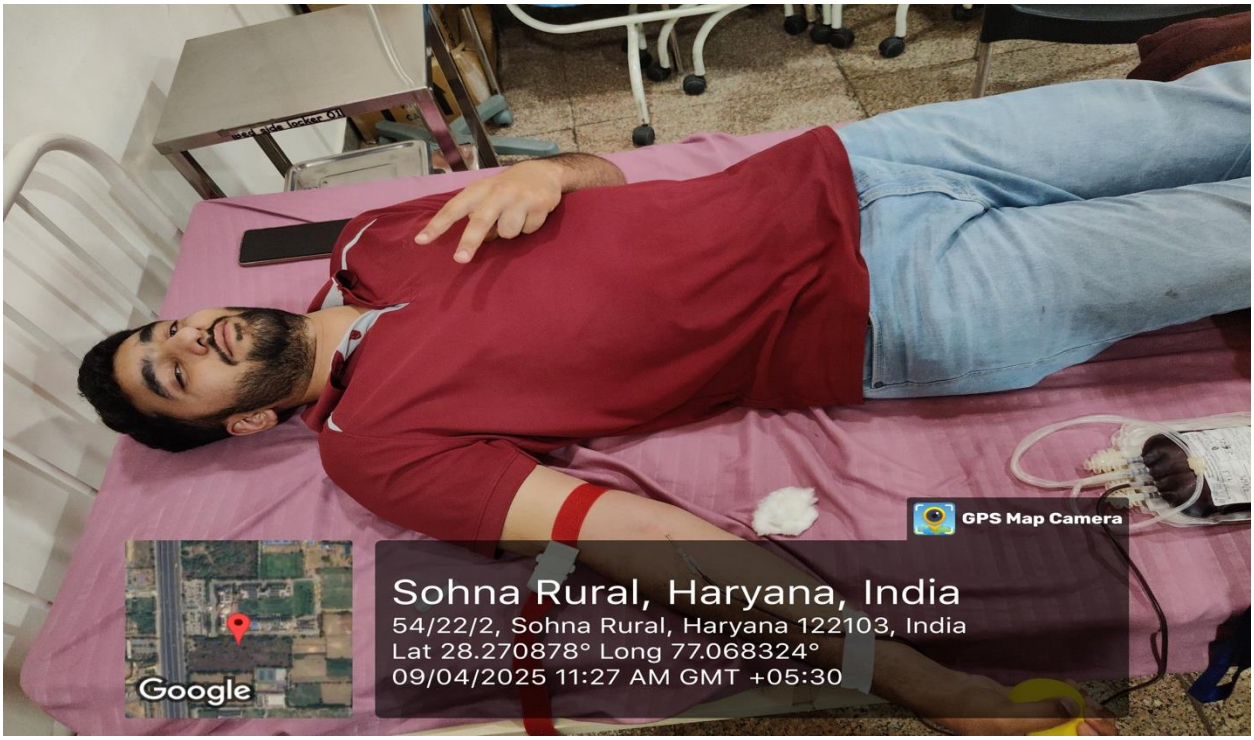

Conclusion:

The blood donation camp held at KR Mangalam University was a commendable initiative highlighting the university's commitment to social responsibility and humanitarian causes. With the support of the Red Cross Society and the enthusiastic participation of 50 students, the camp successfully contributed to local blood banks, potentially saving many lives. The event also served as a platform to educate and encourage students on the significance of blood donation.
Such initiatives reinforce the importance of giving back to the community. They will continue to inspire future participation in similar events, fostering a culture of empathy and social contribution among students.

Photos of the Blood Donation Camp:

Participants of the Blood Donation Camp held on 9th April 2025 at Sohna Rural, Haryana, proudly displaying their certificates of appreciation.

A dedicated donor contributes to saving lives during the Blood Donation Camp held on 9th April 2025 at Sohna Rural, Haryana.

Group photo capturing the enthusiastic donors, volunteers, and coordinators during the Blood Donation Camp held on 9th April 2025 at K.R. Mangalam University in collaboration with the District Red Cross Society, Gurugram.