REPORT ON FACULTY DEVELOPMENT PROGRAMME ON

"BUILDING EXCELLENCE: STRATEGIES FOR LIFELONG LEARNING AND CONTINUOUS PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT IN ENHANCEMENT OF QUALITY HIGHER EDUCATION"

01-07 May 2025

1. Introduction

The seven day Faculty Development Programme (FDP), titled "Building Excellence: Strategies for Lifelong Learning and Continuous Professional Development in Enhancement of Quality Higher Education", held from 01–07 May 2025, was meticulously designed to explore and enhance the practices of delivering effective online education at K.R. Mangalam University. This programme was developed based on the recommendations and expert insights of Prof. Tania Gupta, Director IQAC, & Dean SOED ensuring its relevance to the evolving landscape of higher education.

The Primary objective of the FDP was to craft pathways for academic professionals to engage with transformative educational practices, focusing on lifelong learning and quality assurance. The objectives of FDP were as follows:

- To enhance faculty competencies in lifelong learning and continuous professional development for improving the quality of higher education.
- To explore innovative teaching and learning strategies that foster student engagement, critical thinking, and skill development.
- To promote academic excellence by strengthening research capabilities, upholding ethical standards, and encouraging interdisciplinary collaboration.
- To develop leadership skills and drive innovation through policy reforms that aligns with the evolving needs of higher education.

- To foster industry collaboration and skill enhancement, ensuring alignment between academic programs and industry expectations.

The sessions of the FDP were planned to meet the desired objectives. Schedule of the FDP has been enclosed

2. Day-wise Report of the Sessions Conducted

A. Thursday (Day 1 -1 May 2025)

The Faculty Development Programme (FDP) on "Building Excellence: Strategies for Lifelong Learning and Continuous Professional Development in Enhancement of Quality Higher Education ", scheduled from 1st to 7th May 2025 , commenced on 1st May 2025 with a thought-provoking session on "Foundational Perspectives on Lifelong Learning in Higher Education."

Dr. Yukti Sharma, Professor at the Department of Education and Joint Director at the Institute of Lifelong Learning, University of Delhi, was the resource person for the day. She provided a comprehensive overview of the philosophical, psychological, and sociological foundations of lifelong learning, highlighting its significance in promoting reflective teaching practices and quality enhancement in higher education.

The session was graced by Dr. Sanjay Kumar, Programme Director and President, CTPD India, as the Special Guest, who emphasized the need for continuous professional development in today's evolving educational landscape. Prof. Tania Gupta, IQAC Director and Dean, School of Education, enriched the session with her encouraging words on fostering institutional support for lifelong learning.

The programme is being coordinated by Dr. Kanchan Khatreja and Dr. Pooja Verma, Assistant Professor, School of Education, KRMU whose efforts ensured a successful and engaging start to the FDP. The session set a reflective tone for the week, inspiring participants to embrace lifelong learning as a cornerstone of academic excellence.

B. Friday (Day 2, 2 May 2025)

The Faculty Development Programme (FDP) on "Building Excellence: Strategies for Lifelong Learning and Continuous Professional Development in Enhancement of Quality Higher Education", scheduled from 1st to 7th May 2025, continued on 2nd May 2025 with an insightful session on "Research Excellence and Academic Writing."
Prof. Ananda Padhan, Dean, School of Education, Apeejay Stya University, Gurugram, was the distinguished speaker for the day. Through a comprehensive presentation, he emphasized the core elements of research excellence, including originality, rigour, significance, impact, and recognition. He elaborated on strategies to enhance the quality of research, such as defining clear objectives and hypotheses, conducting thorough literature reviews, applying appropriate methodologies, and ensuring transparent and reproducible reporting of results.
Further, Prof. Ananda discussed best practices in academic writing, covering various types and formats, ways to improve clarity and coherence, and correct methods for paraphrasing and referencing using APA style. His session also offered practical tips for drafting a high-quality literature review, including the use of credible sources like journals, theses, and online databases.

The session was graced by the presence of Prof. Tania Gupta, IQAC Director and Dean, School of Education, who extended her encouragement and institutional support for the FDP. Dr. Sanjay Kumar, Programme Director and President, CTPD India, and Dr. Rachna Sharma, Associate Program Director, Shiksha Shastram Circle, CTPD, India were also present, coordinating the collaborative academic spirit of the programme.

The session was effectively coordinated by Dr. Anshul Saluja and Dr Shikha, whose smooth execution ensured a productive learning experience for all participants. The engaging question-answer segment was skillfully moderated by Dr. Kanchan Khatreja, encouraging deep reflection and dialogue on the challenges and opportunities in research. The session concluded with a vote of thanks delivered by Prof. P.C. Jena, acknowledging the speaker's valuable contributions and the enthusiastic participation of attendees. The Participants joined the session in large numbers via Zoom and YouTube live stream, reflecting a wide and active engagement across platforms. The day provided valuable insights into advancing scholarly research and writing practices in higher education.

D. Sunday (Day 4, 4 May 2025)

The session started with the welcoming note by Dr. Kanchan Khatreja, Assistant Professor SOED. The fourth day of the Faculty Development Programme continued the insightful series with an enriching session led by Prof. (Dr.) Tania Gupta, who explored the nuances of quality enhancement and innovation in teacher education. The theme was centered on exploring transformative practices and strategic reforms essential for achieving excellence in the field of education.

Dr. Tania Gupta emphasized the pivotal role of continuous professional development, outcome-based education, and reflective teaching practices. She also highlighted the integration of NEP 2020 principles in redesigning curriculum and pedagogy to foster holistic and inclusive learning environments. Through real-world examples and thought-provoking insights, she encouraged educators to adopt a proactive and reform-oriented approach in their institutions. The participants were engaged in brainstorming activities. She emphasized participants to be emotionally intelligent so that they create a positive and impactful environment. It was further suggested to involve in teaching, research and extension activities and help each other in their profession.

The session was effectively moderated by Dr. Rachna Sharma and Ms. Shalvi Kumari, who facilitated seamless interaction and maintained the academic rhythm throughout. An engaging Q&A session was handled by Ms. Shalvi, wherein participants raised pertinent questions regarding innovative teaching strategies and quality assurance in education. Their queries were addressed thoughtfully, fostering a collaborative and reflective atmosphere.

The session concluded with a warm and appreciative Vote of Thanks by Dr. Rachna Sharma, acknowledging the contributions of the speaker, participants, and organizing team. She appreciated the enriching session and reiterated the importance of applying the insights gained into institutional practices.

The continued guidance and academic leadership of Prof. P.C. Jena, School Coordinator, and the support from Dr. Sanjay, Programme director, CTPD and Dr. Rachna Sharma, Associate Programme Director, Shiksha Shastram Circle, CTPD India, contributed significantly to the success of the session. Feedback and assignments from 190 participants were collected at the end to evaluate the session's effectiveness and to inform planning for future initiatives.
