Report on

Guest Lecture & Campus Visit – University of Kent, U.K.

Date: 28th January 2025

Venue: A113, KRMU

Event Type: Guest Lecture & Campus Visit

Mode of Activity: Offline

Target Group: KRMU Students

Coordinators: Dr. Meenakshi Gujral, Director, International Relations

Resource Person: Dr. Anirban Mitra. Senior Lecturer, Economics, University of Kent, U.K.

Organized by: KRMU International Relations ,SOHS in association with shiksha STUDY ABROAD

Number of Participants: 105 students

Introduction:

On 28th January 2025, KRMU International Relations with SOHS and in association with shiksha STUDY ABROAD organized a guest lecture and campus visit by University of Kent, U.K. The guest lecture saw participation from KRMU students. The Guest Lecture provided valuable insights to students of KRMU from the Guest Speaker, Dr. Anirban Mitra. Senior Lecturer, Economics, University of Kent, U.K. The lecture helped students of KRMU with skills for employability in the field of Global Economic Trends.

Objective:

The main objective of the Guest Lecture on the topic "Global Trends in Development Economics" was to provide students with a comprehensive understanding of current global trends in development economics, including shifting patterns in poverty, inequality, sustainability, trade, and technological innovation, and to encourage critical thinking about policy responses and the future direction of economic development in both developed and developing countries.

Outcomes:

The event successfully met its key objective, and therefore, the participants gained a critical understanding of how global economic trends—such as technological change, climate challenges, shifting trade patterns, and inequality—are shaping development outcomes across different regions, enabling them to analyze and apply this knowledge in academic, policy, or professional contexts.

Campus Visit

During his campus visit, the representatives engaged in discussions with our Hon'ble VC Sir, Prof. (Dr.) Raghuvir Singh along with other key officials. The meeting focused in-depth conversations on areas of mutual interest and potential collaborations for a formal agreement between KRMU and University of Kent, UK.

Conclusion:

In conclusion, the event was a valuable experience for the faculties as well as the students as they got an opportunity to interact with the distinguished Lecturer of University of Kent, U.K. The guest lecture on "Global Trends in Development Economics" led by Dr. Anirban Mitra of University of Kent, U.K. saw an engaging turnout with 6 faculties and 105 students in attendance. The attendees were primarily from SOHS, SOMC & SOET. The session provided valuable insights into key global economic trends, fostering critical discussions on policy implications and real-world applications.

Glimpse

Dr. Anirban Mitra, delivering the Guest Lecture

Representatives of the University of Kent, U.K. with key officials of KRMU

The Glimpse of the Guest Lecture

The Glimpse of the Guest Lecture