Introduction:

The "Interactive Session on Constitutional Rights & Duties" was convened on November 21, 2023 at A-213, organised by School of Humanities (SOHS). The event aimed to delve into the fundamental principles enshrined within our constitutional framework, focusing on elucidating the rights, responsibilities, and duties of citizens as outlined in the constitution.

Objectives:

1. To educate participants about their constitutional rights and duties.
2. To foster discussions and engagements regarding the importance of active citizenship.
3. To provide a platform for participants to gain a deeper understanding of the nuances of constitutional principles.
4. To encourage critical thinking and reflection on the relevance of constitutional rights in contemporary society.

Event Proceedings:

The session commenced promptly at the scheduled time with an introduction to the event's objectives and an acknowledgment of the distinguished speaker, Chirashree Dasgupta, who is an Associate Professor at the Centre for the Study of Law and Governance (CSLG), Jawaharlal Nehru University. The speaker's expertise and profound knowledge in constitutional law set the stage for an insightful and engaging discourse.

The speaker's presentation encompassed a comprehensive overview of constitutional rights and duties, navigating through intricate legal concepts with clarity and precision. Key areas discussed included the freedom of speech, equality before the law, duties towards the nation, and the significance of upholding constitutional values in a democratic society.

The session was interactive, encouraging active participation from the audience. Engaging discussions ensued, allowing participants to pose questions, share perspectives, and express their thoughts on various constitutional matters. The dialogue was vibrant, offering diverse viewpoints and fostering a deeper understanding of the complexities within the constitutional framework.

The event concluded with a summary of key takeaways and a call to action, emphasizing the importance of applying the knowledge gained to promote active citizenship and contribute positively to society.

Conclusion: The "Interactive Session on Constitutional Rights & Duties" proved to be an enlightening and thought-provoking event. It provided a platform for participants to gain valuable insights into their rights and responsibilities as citizens, fostering a deeper appreciation for the constitutional framework that governs our society.

The event's success was attributed to the expert guidance and engaging discourse facilitated by Chirashree Dasgupta, coupled with the active participation and enthusiasm of the attendees.

Acknowledgments:

We extend our sincere gratitude to Chirashree Dasgupta, for sharing their expertise and knowledge during this session. Special thanks are also due to all participants whose active engagement contributed to the success of the event.

We express our appreciation to the organizing team and everyone involved in planning and executing the event, ensuring its smooth conduct and overall success.

Future Endeavors:

Moving forward, SOHS aims to continue organising similar sessions and events, fostering a culture of awareness, understanding, and active participation in matters concerning constitutional rights and duties.
