REPORT ON FACULTY DEVELOPMENT PROGRAMME ON

“Methodical Minds: Building Expertise in Research Methodologies”

(8th January 2024 to 13th January 2024)

1. Introduction

The School of Humanities, KR Manglam University in collaboration with S.S. Khanna Girls College, University of Allahabad organized a six-day Faculty Development Programme from 8th January 2024 to 13th January 24. The programme consisted of a total of twelve sessions. The sessions held during FDP gave an insight into the basics of research and focused on several aspects, such as Qualitative and Quantitative data collection and analysis techniques, hypothesis testing, conducting a comprehensive literature review as well as research paper writing.

"Methodical Minds" was meticulously designed to equip participants with the knowledge and skills essential for effective research methodologies. We go beyond the basics, providing a comprehensive approach to research methods through interactive sessions, workshops, and discussions. This program is an excellent opportunity for faculty members at all career stages to strengthen their research capabilities.

Objectives

- To provide an understanding of various methods of teaching and research skills.
- To enhance research capabilities of young faculty members especially pertaining to empirical research.
- To have first-hand practical experience of learning methods of sampling, data collection and data analysis using recent software like SPSS.
- To have a good understanding of developing research proposals for projects using empirical and doctrinal research.
- To understand research ethics and reporting research findings.

There were more than 50 external participants from different colleges and institutes and several participants from K.R. Mangalam University.

The sessions of the FDP were planned to meet the desired objectives. Schedule of the FDP has been enclosed Development Program (FDP) commenced with an inspiring address by Ms. Ambika Bhatnagar, Assistant Professor (English Department), K.R. Mangalam University. Her words served as a source of motivation for all the faculty members, researchers, and scholars in attendance. Her speech set a positive tone for the event, instilling a sense of enthusiasm and dedication among the participants.

Following which our esteemed Dean, School of Humanities, Prof (Dr). Neha Jain took the stage to extend a warm welcome to the audience. With a gracious and inclusive tone, the Dean acknowledged the presence of faculty members, researchers, and scholars who had gathered for the seven-day Faculty Development Program. The welcoming address from the Dean marked the beginning of what promises to be a valuable and enriching experience for all participants.

Ms. Kartika, Assistant Professor (History Department), K.R. Mangalam University introduced the speaker.

Professor (Dr.) Madhvendra Misra, a distinguished academician with 22 years of experience, delivered a brilliant lecture at the event. Holding a D.Phil. degree and an MBA, Prof. Misra is a seasoned professional associated with the Indian Institute of Information Technology in Allahabad, Uttar Pradesh, India. With a deep-rooted belief that academics involve exploring the life, vision, and actions of predecessors, Prof. Misra sees it as an opportunity to contribute by framing it in a way that envisions tomorrow.

Upon being introduced to the audience, Prof. Misra highlighted his expertise in various domains, including Marketing, Strategy & Technology Forecasting, Process Management & Business Process Reengineering (BPR), Consultancy, Information Strategy & Digital Marketing, and Social Entrepreneurship. His proficiency also extends to Public Policy & Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR). Currently, Prof. Misra is actively engaged in the field of Organizational Learning, Corporate Social Responsibility, Behavior Analytics, IT/IS integration into businesses, and Neuromarketing. His diverse range of expertise reflects a commitment to staying at the forefront of contemporary developments in academia and industry, contributing significantly to these fields.

The topic of the First session was Qualitative data collection techniques.

Qualitative data offers rich insights into human behavior and experiences. Here are key techniques:

1. In-depth Interviews: Uncover detailed insights through one-on-one conversations.
2. Focus Group Discussions: Explore shared beliefs and attitudes within a group setting.
3. Observation: Directly observe and record behavior in natural settings for contextual understanding.
4. Content Analysis: Analyze textual or visual content to identify patterns and themes.
5. Case Studies: ** Delve deeply into specific cases for a holistic understanding.

Consider the strengths and limitations of each technique, ensuring alignment with research goals. In my work, qualitative data has been instrumental in uncovering complexities in Social Entrepreneurship, Corporate Social Responsibility, and Neuromarketing. As we embrace these techniques, let's remain committed to refining our methodologies for a deeper understanding of the human experience.

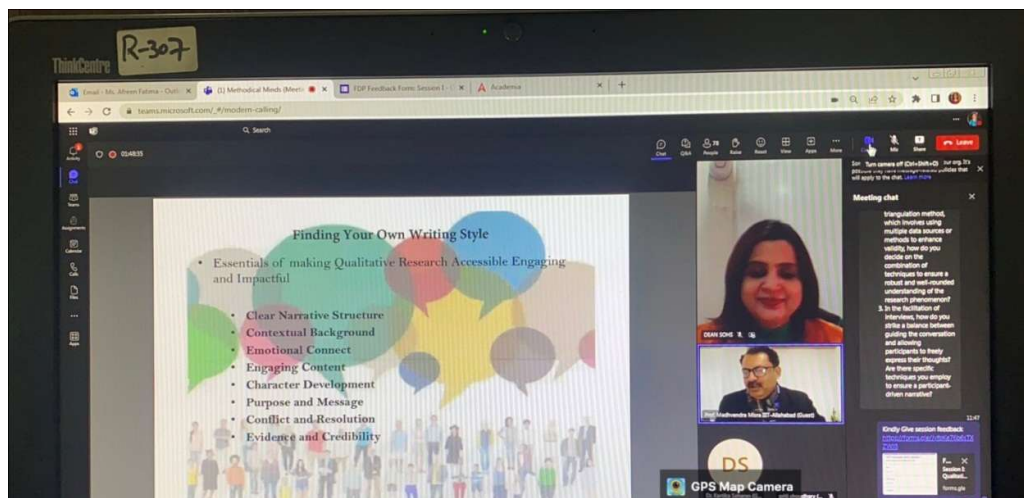

Ms. Ambika Bhatnagar, Assistant Professor (English Department), K.R. Mangalam University, moderated the session effectively. Later, the Q&A session was conducted successfully.

The session was attended by more than 50 participants through the MS Team online platform.

determination.

The topic of the second session was ‘Hypothesis testing, power analysis and sample size determination.’ The invited expert on the topic was Prof. Tanuj Nandan, MNNIT, Allahabad.

With a diverse academic background, our distinguished speaker holds a Bachelor of Science in Statistics, Mathematics, and Physics at the undergraduate level, showcasing a strong foundation in quantitative disciplines. Building upon this, they pursued a Master of Business Administration (Financial Management), blending analytical skills with financial acumen. Completing the academic journey, he attained a Doctor of Philosophy, emphasizing a commitment to advanced research.

Specializing in Financial Derivatives, Investment Analysis, Risk Management, and Investor Behavior, our speaker brings a wealth of expertise to the table. This unique blend of quantitative proficiency and financial insight positions them as a valuable resource in the field. Their academic journey and research focus underscore a dedication to advancing knowledge in the realms of finance and investment.

Hypothesis testing is a crucial aspect of experimental design, and power analysis plays a pivotal role in determining the adequacy of sample sizes for such tests. Power analysis involves calculating the minimum sample size required for an experiment, considering factors such as the desired significance level, statistical power, and effect size.

Power, in this context, refers to the likelihood that a test will accurately reject a false null hypothesis. A well-designed test aims to minimize the risk of Type I errors (small alpha) while maximizing power (small beta), ensuring a higher probability of correctly rejecting a false null hypothesis.

The determination of sample size often involves the utilization of specific formulas. In scenarios where the sample size is already known, power analysis can be employed to assess the statistical power of the study by considering the alpha value and effect size. It essentially quantifies the ability of a study to detect a meaningful effect, emphasizing that a study with low power is less valuable, particularly if it fails to identify a significant effect size.

Statistical power, or the power of a hypothesis test, quantifies the probability of correctly rejecting the null hypothesis. It represents the likelihood of obtaining a true positive result and is most meaningful when the null hypothesis is indeed rejected. Therefore, a thorough understanding of power analysis and sample size determination is essential for researchers to ensure that their experiments are adequately powered to detect significant effects, thereby enhancing the reliability and utility of their findings.

Ms. Ambika Bhatnagar, Assistant Professor (English Department), K.R. Mangalam University, moderated the session effectively.

A Q&A session provided a valuable platform for participants to deepen their understanding and was led successfully. The Vote of Thanks was also done by the moderator towards the end of the session. The session was attended by more than 50 participants through the MS Team online platform.

approaches

The topic of the second session was 'Integrating qualitative and quantitative research approaches'. The invited expert on the topic was Dr. Mohammad Nizamuddin.

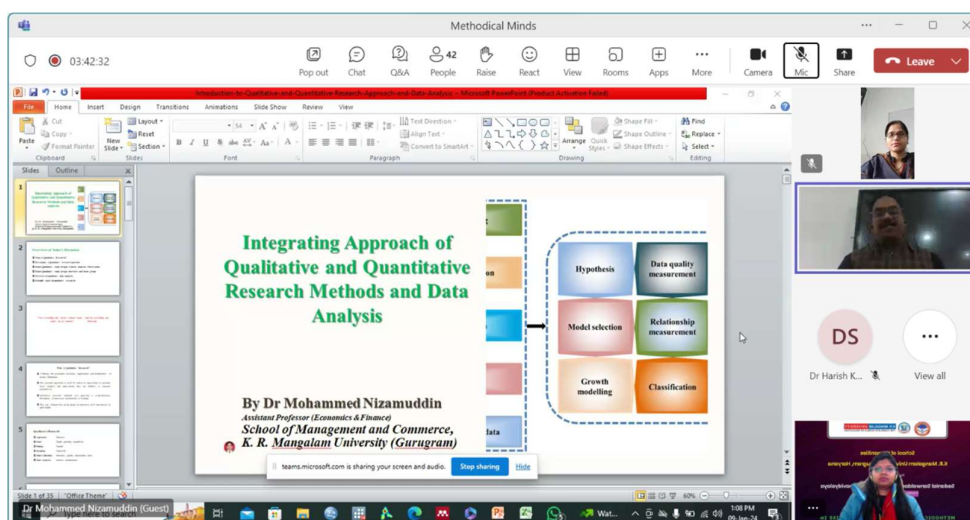

Dr. Mohammed Nizamuddin, an Assistant Professor in Economics and Finance at K. R. Mangalam University, Gurugram, brings over 8 years of valuable academic experience. Holding a Ph.D. from the Central University of Gujarat, his research interests span Corporate Finance, Financial Econometrics, Social Entrepreneurship, Financial Sustainability, Corporate Social Responsibility, and Corporate Governance. With numerous publications in esteemed national and international journals, including Scopus, ABDC, and ABS indexing, Dr. Nizamuddin demonstrates a commitment to rigorous academic inquiry. His teaching portfolio encompasses Corporate Finance, Financial Econometrics, Equity Valuation, Financial Modelling, and Financial Derivatives. A guest speaker in Faculty Development Programs (FDPs), he shares insights on contemporary financial sustainability issues.

In discussing the integration of qualitative and quantitative research approaches, it is crucial to acknowledge their symbiotic relationship. Quantitative methods offer numerical insights and statistical analyses, allowing for generalizations across larger populations. In contrast, qualitative approaches provide depth, exploring narratives and contextual nuances.

His experience in Corporate Finance and Financial Sustainability emphasizes the synergy between these methods. Integrating qualitative and quantitative approaches enriches research, allowing for a more comprehensive understanding. For instance, qualitative findings can inform the development of quantitative instruments, and vice versa, enhancing the validity and depth of our studies.

He appreciates the interdisciplinary nature of our work and recognizes that combining these approaches strengthens the robustness of our findings. This integration facilitates a more holistic understanding of complex phenomena, contributing significantly to the advancement of knowledge in our fields.

Ms. Ambika Bhatnagar, Assistant Professor (English Department), K.R. Mangalam University, moderated the session effectively. Later Q&A session was led successfully. The Vote of Thanks was given to the speaker. The session was attended by more than 50 participants through the MS Team online platform.

comprehensive literature review.

The topic of the third session of the FDP was Conducting a comprehensive literature review it was delivered by Dr. Aditya Laal Veer, IIT, Roorkee. Ms. Kartika, Assistant Professor (History Department), K.R. Mangalam University introduced the speaker, Dr Aditya.

A comprehensive literature review is a critical component of academic research that involves systematically analyzing, synthesizing, and evaluating existing scholarly works relevant to a particular topic or research question. It serves several purposes, such as providing a theoretical framework, identifying gaps in the current knowledge, and establishing the context for the research. In the initial stages of conducting a literature review, researchers identify key concepts, themes, and keywords related to their research topic. They then systematically search academic databases, journals, books, and other reputable sources to gather relevant literature. The selected works are critically reviewed and analyzed to extract key findings, methodologies, and theoretical frameworks. The literature review not only highlights the current state of knowledge on the chosen topic but also aids in the identification of gaps or controversies in existing research. Researchers critically assess the strengths and weaknesses of previous studies, contributing to a deeper understanding of the subject matter. By synthesizing the information gathered, researchers can build a conceptual framework for their own study, integrating existing theories and models. This synthesis helps establish the context for the research, demonstrating the significance of the study in relation to previous work.

In summary, a comprehensive literature review is a meticulous and systematic examination of existing scholarly works, providing a foundation for new research endeavors, identifying gaps in knowledge, and contributing to the development of the theoretical framework for a study.

Ms. Ambika Bhatnagar, Assistant Professor (English Department), K.R. Mangalam University, moderated the session effectively. Later Q&A session was led successfully. The Vote of Thanks was given to the speaker. The session was attended by more than 50 participants through the MS Team online platform.

DAY 3 – (10th January 2024) Session 2 - Advanced Statistical Techniques

The session was delivered by Dr. Raman Nautiyal. Mr. Venkkat, Assistant Professor (Political Science Department), K.R. Mangalam University introduced the speaker. Dr. Raman Nautiyal. did Bachelors in Statistics, Maths & Economics from DAV College, Dehradun. He then did Masters in Statistics from the same college. He is pursuing a PhD in Statistics from Kumaon University. He got recruited for the post of scientist when he was doing M Phil in 1998. He is a Scientist E at Indian Council of Forestry Research & Education (ICFRE). Diving into the realm of Advanced Statistical Techniques, it is imperative to highlight their transformative impact on data analysis and interpretation. These techniques, ranging from machine learning algorithms to complex statistical models, empower researchers to extract deeper insights from intricate datasets. Incorporating machine learning algorithms, such as regression analysis, clustering, and decision trees, allows for predictive modeling and pattern recognition. These methods are particularly instrumental when dealing with large and multidimensional datasets, enabling the identification of intricate relationships that might elude traditional statistical approaches. Moreover, Bayesian statistics and structural equation modeling offer sophisticated tools for exploring complex relationships among variables, providing a more nuanced understanding of causality and interdependencies. Time-series analysis, another advanced technique, aids in unraveling trends and patterns within temporal data, essential for forecasting and decision-making. In speakers research journey, the application of these advanced statistical techniques has proven invaluable in unraveling intricate patterns in financial data, informing investment strategies, and understanding market dynamics. We delved into the intricacies of Advanced Statistical Techniques, let us appreciate their power in uncovering hidden insights and enhancing the depth of our analyses.

Ms. Ambika Bhatnagar, Assistant Professor (English Department), K.R. Mangalam University, moderated the session effectively. Later Q&A session was led successfully. The Vote of Thanks was given to the speaker. The session was attended by more than 50 participants through the MS Team online platform.

DAY 4 – (11th January 2024), Session 1 – Quantitative data collection methods

The topic of the fourth session of the FDP was Quantitative data collection methods given by Dr. Sayeed M. Zeeshan who is an Assistant Professor at VIT Bhopal University. Ms. Kartika, Assistant Professor (History Department), K.R. Mangalam University introduced the speaker.

Dr. Sayed Mohammed Zeeshan completed his Ph.D. from the Indian Institute of Technology (Indian School of Mines) Dhanbad in the year 2019. He is presently serving as Assistant Professor in the School of Applied science and languages at VIT Bhopal University, Bhopal. He has published papers at various International Journals. His research interest includes survey sampling. Apart from teaching experience, he has expertise in giving statistical consultancy services. Also, he has been a resource person for many workshops and certificate courses.

Quantitative Data Collection Methods are essential tools in empirical research, providing systematic ways to gather numerical information for analysis. Surveys and structured questionnaires ensure standardized data across large samples, while experimental research allows for controlled manipulation of variables to draw causal relationships. Observational studies capture behaviors in natural settings, and technology-driven methods like sensor data collection offer real-time precision. Archival research analyzes existing quantitative data for historical perspectives. In my research, especially in Financial Derivatives and Investment Analysis, these methods enable a robust understanding of complex financial phenomena. Let's recognize the power of Quantitative Data Collection Methods in providing precise insights. Ms. Ambika

Day 4, Session 1, Photo 1 on Quantitative data analysis methods

The session delivered by Beri from university.

Assistant

K.R. Mangalam University introduced the speaker.

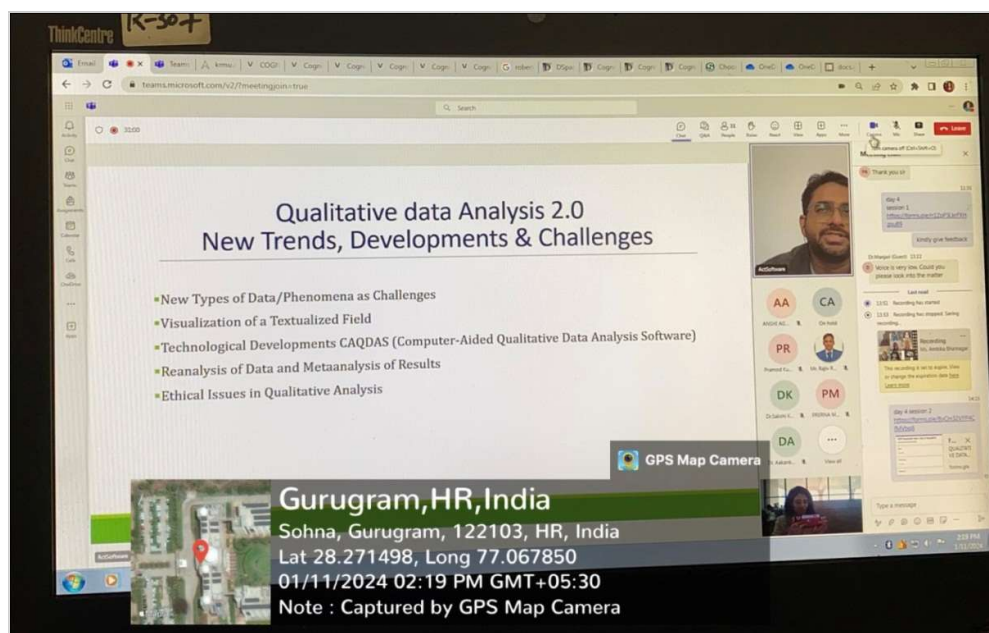

Dr. Suraj Beri is an Assistant Professor at Nagaland University, specializing in Sociology. With a Ph.D. from Jawaharlal Nehru University, he has diverse research interests, including sociology of elites, social inequalities, and urban processes. Dr. Beri has published extensively and contributed to academic literature. His teaching experience includes roles at Nagaland University and the University of Delhi. Committed to social research and teaching, he focuses on empirical investigations of inequalities and structures of power. Dr. Beri has received recognition for his contributions to sociology and participated in various conferences and workshops.

Qualitative data analysis involves systematically examining and interpreting non-numerical data to uncover patterns and insights. Common methods include Thematic Analysis, Grounded Theory, Content Analysis, Narrative Analysis, Phenomenological Analysis, Case Study Analysis, Framework Analysis, Discourse Analysis, Visual Analysis, and Cross-case Analysis. Researchers choose methods based on the research question, data type, and study design, gaining a deeper understanding of complex phenomena.

Ms. Ambika Bhatnagar, Assistant Professor (English Department), K.R. Mangalam University, moderated the session effectively. Later Q&A session was led successfully. ## productivity.

The topic of the Fifth session was Using technology for data collection and analysis delivered by Dr. Bhavash Vyas. Ms. Poonam, Assistant Professor (English Department), K.R. Mangalam University introduced the speaker. He has been teaching from 7.5 years. Have taught various courses in Electrical Engineering such as Power System Engineering, Protection of Power System, Extra High Voltage AC/DC Networks, Basic of Electrical and Electronics Engineering and many. Along with this he had published Course Reference book: Smart Grid Technology under Ashirwad Publications, initially designed as per Rajasthan Technical University syllabus. He has published two SCI and more than 15 SCOPUS research papers. Basic areas of research include real time simulation studies of existing problems in power system. Currently, He is working as an Assistant Professor in Electrical and Electronics Engineering Department in the School of Engineering & Technology. He joined K. R. Mangalam University in March 2021. Leveraging technology for research productivity involves employing various tools and software throughout the research process. From data collection to analysis, researchers can streamline workflows and enhance efficiency. Tools like online surveys, mobile apps, and sensors facilitate data collection, while software such as SPSS, NVivo, or Python/R for statistical analysis, and qualitative analysis tools like Atlas.ti or MAXQDA aid in data interpretation. Adopting Reference Management tools like EndNote or Zotero helps organize citations, contributing to seamless writing and manuscript preparation. The integration of technology optimizes the research journey, fostering more effective and insightful outcomes.

Interdisciplinary Research

Session 2 on Interdisciplinary Research was delivered by Dr. Ravi Bhatt, National Law University, Odisha. Dr. Ravi Bhatt is an Assistant Professor at the National Law University Odisha, specializing in English Language Teaching, Buddhist Philosophy, Marxist Philosophy, Postmodernism, and Indian Knowledge Systems. With over 15 years of teaching experience, he completed his Ph.D. on "Buddhism, Marxism, and Postmodernism." Dr. Bhatt has published extensively, with research interests spanning Buddhist and Marxist Literature, Postmodernism, ESL, and Soft Skills Training. He has presented papers at national and international conferences, conducted workshops, and organized offline workshops on topics like "Equity, Inclusivity, and Representation." Additionally, Dr. Bhatt has been invited to speak at various universities and colleges, contributing significantly to the academic community.

Ms. Poonam, Assistant Professor (English Department), K.R. Mangalam University introduced the speaker. In his lecture, Dr Bhatt explores the nuances of interdisciplinary, transdisciplinary, and multidisciplinary research. The lecture not only elucidated the distinctions among these terms but also provided valuable guidance on fostering collaborations with international faculties for young researchers. Dr. Batt commenced the lecture by delineating the disparities between interdisciplinary, transdisciplinary, and multidisciplinary research approaches. Interdisciplinary research involves integrating knowledge, methods, and perspectives from multiple disciplines to address complex problems. Transdisciplinary research transcends disciplinary boundaries by involving stakeholders from various sectors to co-create knowledge and solutions. Multidisciplinary research, on the other hand, entails combining insights from different disciplines without necessarily integrating them deeply. Dr. Batt emphasized the significance of international collaborations for young researchers aiming to enhance the impact and quality of their research. He outlined several strategies to facilitate collaboration with faculties overseas.

Ms. Ambika Bhatnagar, Assistant Professor (English Department), K.R. Mangalam University, moderated the session effectively. Later on, a Q&A session was held successfully. The session was attended by more than 50 participants through the MS Team online platform.

• How useful was the FDP in preparing you for Online teaching in upcoming semester

Unanimously all faculty members found this FDP to be either useful or very useful.

Majority of the faculty believed this FDP was successful in meeting its objectives. Not even a single faculty has disagreed to it.
